...bring maths to life

Maths is the language of the universe, so what have you got to say?

Plus is an award-winning maths magazine aimed at the general public featuring articles by top mathematicians and science writers. Become one of them by sending us an inspiring article on a maths-related topic -- an international audience of over 200,000 could be reading your work in the June 2008 issue of Plus, and you could win an iPod too!

Visit http://plus.maths.org/competition for details.

Competition closes March 31st 2008.
